

The AELAS – Higher Education Connection

Presented to:
Joint Council of Presidents Meeting
August 16, 2012

Mark T. Masterson
Chief Information Officer
Arizona Department of Education

A photograph of three students in a classroom. A young woman with dark hair tied back, wearing a white sweater, is pointing at a laptop screen. Two other students, a young woman with blonde hair and a young man with dark hair, are looking at the screen. They are sitting at a desk in front of a window. On the wall behind them are posters, including one titled 'Knees to Feet' and another titled 'Double Ball Bounce'.

Where do we want to go?

UNDERSTANDING AELAS

Connections

School Administrators

"How is the neighboring district performing?"

Vendors

"How can we provide the best services and products?"

Students

"Where can I get help on proofs or spelling?"

Higher Education

"How many students are college bound?"

Teachers

"How do I foster students to connect o to other learners to deepen lesson retention?"

Parents

"Are there resources to help my child in Algebra?"

Education Associations

"How do I mine the recent research on retention to provide guidance?"

Community

"Is there a charity group for student involvement?"

Workforce

"How do we encourage and develop self-motivated and productive workers?"

What is IT designing?

A woman with dark hair and glasses is holding a wooden block in front of a chalkboard. The chalkboard has several multiplication problems written on it:  $10 \times 6 = 60$ ,  $11 \times 6 = 66$ , and  $12 \times 6 = 72$ . The woman is looking at the block with a slight smile.
